

The city of Monfalcone is closely following the tragic events that are taking place in Georgia. The administration has started a cooperation activity with this Country in 2006 through the foundation of an Agency of Local Democracy in Kutaisi, a city that so far has been spared by the fighting.

The delegate of the agency, Joseb Khakhaleishvili, has been to Monfalcone several times and the members of the cabinet office have met him already twice during official visits to his Country. The delegate has now appealed to the city of Monfalcone and to the other members of the partnership (Cities of Newport, Strasbourg and Nantes) to raise awareness about the situation. The administration feels solidarity towards this Country where, thanks to a number of projects for youth and women empowerment, local administration improvement and social rights implementation, their link has strengthened.
